ST. PAUL, June 5.—The St. Paul Police Union, organized in July, 1917, will cease to exist after July 1 next. The resolution to quit the Federation was opposed by only a few.

The union has a membership of 204, having reached its greatest strength the last two years while the Department was under control of A. E. A GOWN of white taffeta, from Colette, is made interesting by threads of silver that run at intervals through its bouffant skirt, and gather the material into little bands at its edges. The long, slender pointed bodice is demincent of the moyenage, with its sleevelessness giving it a modern air.

THE sleeveless, bolero-like arrangement of the bodice of a Paquin gown for evening is matched in smartness by the treatment accorded the sides of its skirt. Unusual, indeed, is the puckering over one hip and the flat bows introduced to hold the drapery in place on the other. The gown is of satin moire etched with crystal beads.

Society By JEAN ELIOT

THE President and Mrs. Harding are attending the so-called "cabinet dinner" which has been arranged in their honor this afternoon in connection with the music week activities, and afterward Mrs. Harding will receive a number of guests by appointment.

Arrangements are being made for a unique "cabinet dinner," which is to take place—if plans do not miscarry—not in Washington but in Nileschear, Ill., with the Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, as host.

President Harding some time ago announced his intention to attend the anniversary in August of the model children's home maintained by the Loyal Order of Moose, of which he himself is a member. Then Mr. Davis, who is director general of the Moose and a devoted promoter of its every interest, decided to ask his colleagues of the Cabinet to be at Nileschear with President Harding. There they will be feasted on bloc, and if affairs of state are pressing the party will be converted into an impromptu session of the Cabinet. A patriotic children's pageant of a patriotic character will be the star number of the Mooseheart festival.

THE British Ambassador and Lady Geddes will entertain at dinner at the embassy tonight in celebration of the birthday of King George V. The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge will be the ranking guests, and a group of American officials will join in drinking the King's health, among them the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes, Andrew M. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, and Miss Ailsa Mellon.

Admiral Sir William Pakenham and several of the officers of his flagship, the Raleigh, will also be among the guests. The dinner, which is an annual event, is always marked by considerable pomp and ceremony, and the occasion has unusual interest this time since the ambassador is among the recipients of birthday honors. He was made grand commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.
